Subject: Obama's Health Plan 8-19-2009

Obama's health plan, calls for a panel of experts to determine (the how, what, when, where), the medical-care, each individual may expect to receive.

Since there are tens of millions of people, who are to be prescribed for, it is obvious that a single panel can NOT address each individual personally.

But rather this panel, (composed of experts/doctors/appointees), will establish guidelines, with which to judge every single person.

Therefore, it should be disclosed, (before passage of law), what the guidelines are!

In all probability, the panel may hear extreme circumstance cases per se, (a little wiggle-room is needed), (including those which may be politically motivated). For example, I would like to know, if the close relatives of that panel and/or all the politicians, will be subject to the same criteria, as the masses!?!?
